The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the JISC Digital Media website. The browser's address bar shows the URL "JISC Digital Media - Moving Images: Basic Guide to th...". The website header includes the JISC Digital Media logo and navigation links: "About", "Helpdesk", "News", "Case Studies", and "Contact". A search bar is located on the right side of the header. Below the header is a large banner with icons for headphones, a camera, and a power button, along with the text "Free help and advice to the UK Further and Higher Education community" and a "Helpdesk" button. The main content area features a breadcrumb trail: "You are here: Home > Moving images > Basic Guide to the Flip". The article title is "Basic Guide to the Flip", last updated on 11 May 2010, published in "Creating new digital media", and tagged with "tripod" and "video". There is one comment. The summary states: "This document is a guide to the use of the Flip video camera and similar miniature camcorders." On the left, there is a sidebar with "Advice" and "By Media" sections, including links for "Still images", "Moving images", "Audio", and "Cross-media". Below that is a "By Stage" section with links for "Managing a project" and "Digitising analogue media". On the right, there is a "Subscribe" section with RSS and Atom feeds for "Moving images" and a "Related moving images advice" section with links for "Introduction to Digital Video" and "Basic Guide to Shooting Video". The browser's status bar at the bottom shows "Internet" and "100%" zoom.

Hi,
I just tried to watch it but it comes up with a message that says
"Sorry but prameters you sent are incorrect"
Any ideas?

Here is a link to the video of your IT for Business 'elevator pitch'.

I'm sending individual, personal links to each student who's pitch was recorded.

In all cases, I recommend that you watch your video through a few times and have a think about the following sorts of aspects:

Content:

How quickly did you get to the point?
How clearly did you make your point?

Presentation & body language:

How did your dialog sound?
What sort of messages did your body-language suggest?
